About

This masterclass provides a comprehensive exploration of what it means to lead with engagement in order to cultivate an inclusive culture. It will explore innovative approaches to creating a work environment that honours and prioritizes the individuality of each team member, as well as ideas for shaping organizational culture to be supportive, equitable, and open to collaboration.

Participants will learn how to encourage positive engagement from all staff, leverage data to promote a more diverse and inclusive team, and develop strategies for adapting to a fast-changing world. You will become a leader for equitable practices and gain the skills necessary to create an atmosphere of trust, empowerment, and belonging.
